

METHOD OF MEASURING THE PERFORMANCE OF A TRANSCEIVER IN A
PROGRAMMABLE LOGIC DEVICE

ABSTRACT:

The performance of a serial data transceiver in a programmable logic device may be determined by applying a stress sequence of sequential data to a receiver of the transceiver, comparing the received data to reference data and determining the number of errors.